

CASSANELLI VS. VENTURI

Finding No Protection by the Law. Is Forced to Sue in Civil Court.

On April 6 last Patricio Venturi, a farmer opposite Dayton, sneaked up behind his neighbor, Pietro Cassanelli, while the latter was irrigating a small vegetable patch, and struck him a powerful blow over the head with a shovel, felling him senseless, and then he jabbed him at the throat, but missed the jugular by striking the jaw; he then jumped over the fence into a ditch and ran stooping until hidden from view by brush. Cassanelli fell almost at the feet to two of his little children, and lay senseless for probably a minute. His wife saw the blow struck from a distance of about 200 yards, and she ran to him. Dr. Pickard was sent for, and he found the shovel had penetrated the skull. Since then it seems a growth is proceeding inside the skull and pressing the brain, resulting in fainting spells which is very dangerous to the patient as he is engaged peddling with teams.

A complaint was sworn to charging Venturi with assault with intent to kill, and upon hearing had he was held to appear before the grand jury and a bond of $500 set was given. The grand jury refused to indict him.

Cassanelli has to drive through the Venturi ranch in order to reach the main road. He is the father of ten children, two of whom attend school at Dayton and they have to pass right by the Venturi house, and father and children are very often subjected to insults by the Venturis, who are attempting to engage him in quarrel. Cassanelli knows that he dares not even raise a hand, for any provocation will be found sufficient to kill him. He has complained to the officers, who have warned Venturi that he must desist, but Venturi denies these attacks.

Cassanelli finally concluded to appeal to the civil courts, and through his attorney, Alfred Chantz, has begun a suit for $10,000 damages for the injuries inflicted, by the assault on April 6 last.

Swindled Governor Sparks

F. W. Burke, a former resident of Reno who three years ago obtained $3,190 from Governor Sparks, was arrested at Pocatello, Idaho, last Tuesday and is now on the way to Reno to answer the charge. Governor Sparks alleges that Burke in February 1903, asked him to sign a note payable to the Investment and Loan Company of Denver for $3,190. This money, Burke claimed, was to be used in purchasing cattle and the cattle were to be given to Governor Sparks as security for the payment of the note. Instead of buying the cattle Burke pocketed the money and left Reno. From that time until shortly before the warrant was issued Burke was not heard from.

Indian Stops Big Mining Deal

A quarter million dollar deal, involving the sale of the Clifford mine and townsite at Clifford, 45 miles from Tonopah, to Pittsburgh people, has been tied up by a suit entered in the Nye county district court by Indian Johnnie Peavine, a Shoshone, who claims that he and his squaw Minnie, are each entitled to a half interest in the big property. Indian Johnnie exhibits a note given by the Cliffords, for $6,666, which he says, was given to him under the pretense that it was a deed, entitling him and his squaw to their respective quarter interest.

Plans are being drawn for a $200,000 hotel at Tonopah. The building is to be four stories high.

The Gazette denies the report that the Western Pacific has purchased the Reno electric road and claims the statement was without foundation.

Supt. Broili of the electric company was a visitor yesterday.

FURNISHINGS ARRIVING

Desks and Chairs or New School Building Delivered

A carload of chairs and desks for the new school building arrived yesterday and was being delivered at the building where they will be installed as soon as a man from the factory arrives in this city.

The furnishings are of the latest pattern and are strictly up-to-date. In the shipment there were 397 chairs and 360 desks.

The workmen are busy putting the finishing touches on the building and it is expected that the contractor will be able to turn it over to the Board by the first of next month.

After the building is accepted work of fitting it up will be finished and it is thought that school will be called in the new building the first Monday in April.

Tom Miner's Bohemians.

The management of this company has always made good and never failed to provide a tiptop show. Every part of the Bohemian program is new this season. Several feature specialty acts will be seen in the olio, and a number of new faces will be among the vaudevillians. The musical comedy or burlesque is in two acts, and their scenes furnish the vehicle to exploit a great deal of comedy in which will be seen some of the best known favorites among the burlesquers. Among the principals are Andy Gardner and Ida Nicolai, in their well known characters "Patsey" and "Roxie" the Orpheum trio, extraordinary singing and dancing act; Ali, Hunter and Ali, eccentric comedy acrobatic boxing act; the successful German comedian, Will H. Ward; and Chas. King and Grace Tremont, the little people with the big voices. There is also a chorus of 20 jolly, frisky and rollicking young ladies, who more or less adorn or unadorn themselves in proud clothes, and glad raiment of scant proportions. This chorus is said to be of the up-to-the-minute order, and they are dividing honors with the principals, who are supposed to be the all-important portion of the program.

The Masquerade.

Arrangements are progressing nicely for the big masquerade to be given by the Modern Woodmen of America on the evening of the 22d inst. A number of prizes will be awarded to the masquers and a big crowd and a jolly time is assured.

A Large Contract

J. H. Logan is in from Ophir today. He and Charles Nielson have the contract to load 2700 cords of wood on the cars at the Ophir siding.

H. Williams of Tonopah is a guest at the Arlington.

THIS EVENINGS PLAY

A Guaranteed Performance at the Local Theatre

"My Wife's Family," a sparkling farce comedy, the work of Stephens and Linton, will be the attraction at the Carson opera house this evening.

The comedy is in three acts of uproarious fun, music and amusing entertainment furnished by clever comedians and pretty girls, who are allotted many catchy singing and dancing numbers, that are sure encore bringers. "My Wife's Family" is a play that is clean, wholesome and devoid of all horse play and suggestiveness too often found in the lighter forms of entertainment offered to the theatre going public.

The cast employed in this merry comedy was selected with careful attention as to their fitness or the characters assumed, with the natural result of an evenly balanced company. The stage, scenic as well as the mechanical effects, are appropriate in every detail. A number of interesting and novel vaudeville specialties are introduced during the action of the play by various members of the company.

Mystery Booths

The "Mystery Booths" at the Kings Daughters' entertainment next Saturday evening will offer sufficient amusement to repay you for the expenditure of the small amount charged for admission.

Case of Smallpox

There is a case of smallpox at Elko, the victim contracting the disease at the iron mines near Palisade.

Five cars of sheep will be shipped west this morning.

Mrs. Herb Peck, formerly Miss Hazel Fox of this city, is visiting friends in this city.

AS SEEN BY OTHERS.

How the New Camp of Manhattan Looked to a Salt Laker.

As many Carsonites are interested in the new camp of Manhattan the following opinion by a prominent mining man of Utah given in the Salt Lake Herald should prove of interest:

After a trip which covered eight days of investigation in the new camp of Manhattan, Nev., Harry B. Coe, the broker reached home yesterday morning. He thought well enough of the district to tie up some favorably located ground on his own account and get a general line on the possibilities of the camp for the future.

"The town of Manhattan is certainly being boomed to a finish," said Mr. Coe. "Practically everything is being overdone and a reaction is sure to take place. I do not mean by that the district is without merit for, as near as I was able to judge in eight days of hustling among the properties some, possibly a great number, will make mines of exceptional merit. The surface showings are simply wonderful and, if the ores go down, as mining engineers of reputation and good judgement believe they will, the camp should prove the equal of any in the state.

"During my visit I found only two men who appeared skeptical and bearish. One of them thought there was too much iron in the ores and the other considered that there was too many cross-fissures associated with the main ledges to make mining dependable. The main ledges cut through the country with great regularity and strength and while the country formation is largely lime and lime shale, quartzite and porphyry is also in evidence and conditions generally are favorable to the deposition of ore. Good values in gold are being obtained in the ore mined from a large number of properties, while it is nothing uncommon to see great chunks of quartz literally faced through and knitted together with free gold.

"Dick Colburn left camp one day with a chunk of ore the size of a mans fist that was more than half gold. He took it to San Francisco, had it sawed into slabs and polished with the result that it made some of the handsomest and richest specimens I ever saw. The ore was taken from the Manhattan Mining company's Annie Laurie ground, all of which is now being operated by leasers. To illustrate the effect that this exhibit had and to give an idea of the fever that is on, it is only necessary to state that he sold 150,000 shares of the company's stock in Goldfield at 10 cents a share during the first hour that the stock was opened to subscription.

"Men are flocking into camp from everywhere and there is a general scramble on to get property. While few of the new companies organized to operate there have yet got things under way, leasers, dozens of them are making money. By the time spring opens the present chaotic conditions will have been straightened out and systematic operations will have been inaugurated. The camp looks good to me, and I am pleased with the foothold I was able to secure while there. I have panned some of the rock, have had assays made and I brought back a lot of the rock to have tried out here."

To Improve Telephone Service

George McFarlin of the Sunset Telephone Company, returned yesterday from a business trip to Carson. The Sunset Company intends to improve its service between Reno, Carson and Virginia, the most important being a direct line between here and the capital. Many of the residents between Reno and Carson have already signified their intention to have telephones installed on the new line.—Journal.

Labor Scarce, Work Plenty.

C. D. Virgilio is still looking for men to work on the N. C. O., the Western Pacific and the Tonopah line. When the line to Manhattan is begun which will be in the near future, the demand for labor will be even greater than it now is, and Nevada should enjoy a labor boom.

Laborers of all kinds from unskilled to trained workmen, and in almost all lines of mechanics will be flocking to the state, says Mr. Virgilio, who has already begun a campaign of advertising in San Francisco papers.—Journal.

H. H. Clark who has been spending several days in this city was a departure for Bullfrog yesterday.

Here's a Tip Worth Taking

Next time you need clothes, remember that garments made to your order by the so-much-talked-about International Tailoring Co., of New York, Chicago and San Francisco, costs no more than ordinary ready-mades of the better grades.

And when you see what perfect-fitting, stylishly-cut, finely-finished garments they turn out for comparatively so little money, you'll wonder how any man can buy ready-made clothes instead of having this famous firm, the largest custom tailoring concern in the world, make them to measure for him.
